

I pride myself on my accuracy but psychic readings are not an exact science, so no reputable reader will ever claim to be 100% accurate.

However, I have helped thousands of people via radio, magazines and in person over the past 20 plus years, have been recommended over and over again and I continue to be in demand. That to me is the strongest measure of my accuracy.

I would also point out that the way you interpret the information that I provide can also determine your perception of how accurate something is or not. I will not change the information that my Guides provide for you, but you have choice and free will at all times to act on the information provided or not.
