

Profiler has all the answers

THE GIFT

WORDS: NICOLE CARRINGTON

AS IS befitting, a sleek black cat stares up at me with lamp-like eyes when I arrive at the inner-west home of Brisbane's revered psychic profiler Julianna Suranyi.

Monkey then lives up to his namesake, climbing all over me during his mistress's personal psychic reading to me.

Julianna, 37, has a regular radio spot and has also launched a new-look website www.julianna.com.au

She's ambitious too – she wants to become the next Oprah Winfrey.

With a background in forensics and government training in psychological profiling, Julianna appears regularly on 4BC.

"It's accepted behaviour that we exercise physically and mentally everyday, but we don't exercise intuitively," she said.

The psychic has been aware of her gift since she was 16, and uses her spirit guides to answer questions. This means she does not have to be physically with a person or hear their voice to provide them with a reading.

The psychic believes she is mostly right on all things, most of the time. She seems very intuitive and wise.

CRYSTAL BALL:
Julianna Suranyi.

I found her to be spot-on, on a number of topics, and she knew things about me and my loved ones which she cannot have obtained from any other source.

Julianna says with her gift comes great responsibility in showing restraint, sensitivity and care to her clients.

She's now holding group sessions from her home base. Held weekly or fortnightly, the sessions are aimed at offering people the benefits of psychic channelling (where everyone will receive an answer to their question from Julianna's guides), methods of healing and development.
